

March 5, 1957

Dear Bernie: Davis

Thanks for your note.

I am enclosing an itinerary; we'll probably see you in London. Will you be coming back with us? If so, and convenient to all the Davis's we will be very happy to accept your hospitality in N.Y. We can talk about that abroad.

My knee, fortunately, has pretty well remitted, and it should not cause any trouble. Thanks for asking.

I would be delighted to be able to talk to your students, but I don't see how Saturday morning will be in question. I'm going to be fairly busy the two days in N.Y.

. I understand you're definitely going back to Harvard. This should surprise no one, I imagine, and the best of luck to you. I do want a chance to talk to you at length about my own too complex plans. These are the more so, since Thursday: did you know that Harvard Biology had approached me? I'll have to see Thimann on April 2 for more details. (That will be in NY if he can come down).

In a hurry now,

Joshua Lederberg
Joshua Lederberg